QUARTZ

Extremely durable and easy to maintain, Quartz is also an excellent value. Engineered Quartz is created by mixing approximately 95 percent ground natural quartz with 5 percent polymer resins for the look of natural stone. No sealing is required.

Quartz is in demand today because it offers the ideal combination of classic beauty, practicality and a surprisingly affordable cost.

NATURAL GRANITE

Formed deep within the earth, natural granite is an igneous rock. During formation, molten material combines with a variety of minerals and is hardened under extreme pressure, making it a very durable material for vanity tops.

Color and crystalline structure of granite varies depending on the amount and mix of natural elements it contains. No two pieces of WOLF Natural Granite are the same.

CULTURED MARBLE

This remarkable surface material is produced from limestone granules, the same mineral from which natural marble forms. Molds are coated with wax and sprayed with a clear gelcoat of polyester resin. After the gelcoat hardens, a poured mix will cure and become cultured marble.

Cultured Marble is an attractive, cost-effective product, making it a great choice for cost-conscious homeowners.
